

To Whom it may concern, It is my understanding that regular radio broadcasters have taken issue with the services that are being provided by my X M Radio service. As a truck driver I am able to access up to date weather and traffic information, long before I am in range of the local AM or FM stations of most major cities. By getting this information well in advance of my arrival, I can decide how best to manage my time and avoid using extra fuel needlessly or adding to local traffic problems by arriving during traffic tie ups. Now that the hours of service rules have been changed, time management is critical to on time deliveries.

Sincerely,
D.L. Wyatt
